You will need to print this page only, sign, and submit to our office, along with the other required documentation (explained below). Duke Visa Services requires that the original signature page be mailed to the University for processing. They do not accept faxes or scans of the signature page.

Step-by-step Instructions for Part II of the Webform

Section I - Instructions and Preferences

1. You are asked to read the additional instructions indicated there, and then verify the box “I have read the additional instructions”.
2. Check the appropriate box what visa class you prefer to be issued. Which visa you will apply for depends on your individual circumstances. Duke Visa Services has prepared a comprehensive chart comparing the F-1 and J-1 visa. We recommend reviewing the chart to help you decide which visa is right for you: <https://visaservices.duke.edu/categories/f1-j1-comparison>
Sometimes, your sponsor or university agreement will stipulate which visa you must have. If that is the case, we will let you know. Please be sure to review which visa you apply for before submitting your visa webform to our office. It can be difficult to change the type of visa you are applying for after the paperwork has already been submitted.
Choose “Other” only if your visa is being sponsored by an organization such as Fulbright. Even in this case, you still need to complete the webform. Duke Visa Services requires this information be submitted by all international students studying at Duke University. You do not need to mail your proof of funding to our office.
3. The box should be checked to “No” as this question is not applicable to Sanford School.
4. Check the appropriate box whether you do plan or not plan to attend the DCID Summer English Institute. Prior to that, please see page 17 of this Visa Guide for the details of the DCID Summer English Institute.

Required Documentation FAQs

Do I need to submit a birth certificate for myself?

No. Duke Visa Services only requires a birth certificate for each of your children if you are requesting a visa for them.

May I submit a copy of my family registry in lieu of birth certificates?

If you are in a country that uses a family registry system (for example, Japan), you may submit the family registry paperwork, in English or with a certified English translation, as a substitution for your children's birth certificate.

My passport has expired. Do you still need a copy of it?

If your passport has expired and you are applying for a new one, it is still helpful for us to have the expired passport copy on file. Once you have received the new passport, we will update our records with the copy of your new passport. Please be sure to email us a scan of the new passport as soon as possible.

My baby does not yet have a passport. What should I do?

Let us know that you are applying for a passport for your child. Once the passport arrives, you can email us the copy of the passport at that time. You do not need to wait to mail the rest of your documents as long as you email us the passport scan in a timely manner.

I studied in the United States last summer but did not need to obtain a student visa at that time. Do I need to submit information on my tourist visa?

No. You only need to submit visa documentation for previous travel to the United States if you obtained an F-1 or F-2, J-1 or J-2, or H-1 visa.

I'm not sure my proof of funding documents are correct. Can you check them for me before I mail them?

Yes! We strongly encourage you to scan all of your documents (signature page, biographical information, and proof of funding) and email them to us before you mail them to our office. We can review your documents and check for accuracy. This can save some time in processing your paperwork once it arrives at our office.

Do I need to mail the originals to the MIDP office? Can I just fax you the information?

Duke Visa Services requires that we receive originals of all of your proof of funding before they will process your visa request. Once we have entered your information into Part I of the webform, we send the original documentation to Duke Visa Services. We ask that you send your proof of funding documentation at the same time you send us your webform signature page.

My bank will only provide bank account statements in Spanish. Can I send you these statements?

If your bank will not provide bank account statements in English, you will need to provide a certified English translation of the bank account statement. We cannot accept translations done by you. You may also provide a letter on official letterhead, in English, from your bank detailing the name on the account, the amount of funds currently available in the account, and the type of currency.

My parents will be sponsoring my funding from their joint bank account. Can I submit a sponsorship letter from just my father?

If both your mother and father's names appear as owners of the bank account, they will both need to sign the sponsorship letter. Please be sure they include both of their names on the letter and they both sign the letter. Also please be sure that the bank account statement or letter is in English or is accompanied by a certified English translation.

My scholarship letter from my government says it covers my education costs in full but does not include an exact dollar amount. Is that okay?

All funding letters must at least include a total funding amount and the type of currency in order to be accepted by Duke Visa Services. A statement such as "this scholarship covers the total educational costs of the program" with no monetary amount will not be accepted. If your scholarship letter is missing this information, please ask your funding organization to provide you with an addendum, on official letterhead, stating the total monetary amount of the scholarship. This letter should be signed by the same individual that provided the original scholarship letter.

DCID Summer Academic Institute

This Institute is designed to prepare MIDP and MPP international graduate students for the rigors of US graduate-level education. The Institute will develop and strengthen your academic and public policy-related communication and computer skills, as well as help you acclimate to the US university environment. To find out more about this four-week program, please see the link:

<http://dcid.sanford.duke.edu/academics/midp/summer-academic-institute>

Please note: this is a non-degree, pre-academic program. No credits will be awarded and it does not count towards any Duke degree.

If you plan to attend the Institute, please select "Yes" in the relevant line of Part II of the webform.

Then please complete your registration for the Institute by filling out the form found here and returning it by email to Jooyoung.chun@duke.edu. You will also need to provide proof of funding for the enrollment fee of the Institute in your visa documentation.

Mailing Your Documentation

When mailing your documentation, we strongly suggest that you use a courier service such as FedEx or DHL. By using these services, you are able to track your shipment and your documents will arrive in a timely manner. In the past, we have had documents get lost in the mail for weeks or months when using the postal service. Unfortunately, there is nothing we can do if your documents become lost and you will need to mail your documents a second time in that situation.

When preparing your package, please keep in mind the following tips:

- Please be sure to mail us all of your documents as soon as possible! If you delay in mailing your documents, it could cause problems in arriving on time to start the program.

- Make sure that all documents are in English or have certified English translations and are clearly legible.
- Do not staple, bind, or tape your documents. Paper clips are acceptable.
- Do not hole punch your documents.
- Do not fold, bend, or crease your documents. Please be sure to use an envelope that allows the documents to lay flat.
- Use the checklist on page 3 to help you ensure that you have included all the necessary documents.

You will mail your documents to the following address:

Jooyoung Chun

Duke Center for International Development

302 Towerview Road; Rubenstein Hall 184

Box 90237

Duke University

Durham, North Carolina USA

27708-0237

Phone: 919-613-9387

Once we receive your package, we will email you to notify you it has arrived. We will then forward your completed application for your visa to Duke Visa Services. Please allow 3-6 weeks for processing once we have notified you that your documents have arrived to our office.

After Mailing Your Documentation FAQs

I've mailed you my documents. Now what?

Once we receive your documents in the mail, we will email you to inform you. We will review the documents to check for completion and then forward them to Duke Visa Services. Once Duke Visa Services has received permission from the federal government to issue your paperwork, they will mail you your I-20 or DS-2019 via FedEx or DHL.

Can I schedule my visa interview after mailing you the documents?

You will need to wait until Duke Visa Services provides you with your SEVIS number before you can schedule your visa interview.

Can you tell me my SEVIS number?

Duke Visa Services does not provide us with your SEVIS number. Once they have the documentation ready for you, they will send it to you right away. If you have not received your information after six weeks, please let us know.

Do I pay the SEVIS I-901 fee or does Duke University pay the fee?

You are responsible for paying the SEVIS I-901 fee.

Why is my major listed as "International Relations and Affairs" on my visa documents?

The system Immigration uses for visa applications has specific category types the university must use. Due to this, the Master of International Development Policy falls under the category of “International Relations and Affairs” for the purposes of the visa application process.

There is incorrect information in my visa documents. What should I do?

Please notify us as soon as possible if you find an error in your visa documents.

Once I receive my visa stamp, how soon can I enter the United States?

You are allowed to enter the United States up to 30 days before the start of your visa. For example, if your visa start date is August 20, 2019, you can enter the United States any time after July 20, 2019.

May I book my travel to the United States before I receive my visa stamp?

You are advised to confirm your travel arrangements to the United States only after obtaining your immigration documents from Duke and a visa stamp from the US embassy or consulate. If you confirm any travel plans prior to the receipt of documents, you do so at your own risk. We cannot guarantee that you will receive your documents or obtain your visa stamp prior to a particular departure date.

Arriving in the United States

You must report to Duke’s Visa Services office within the first three days after you arrive in the United States to register your arrival with them. Failure to register at the Visa Services office in a timely manner may result in your visa being revoked.

We strongly recommend that you plan to arrive in the United States at least two weeks before MIDP’s new-student orientation program begins (i.e., three weeks before the beginning of classes) so that you will have time to make arrangements for a comfortable life in the area before your studies begin to make demands on your time. If you have any questions, please feel free to email Jooyoung.chun@duke.edu .
